

Read the following sentences and write your answer in English.

Proverbs are short sentences pass down from generation to generation and they usually contain advice to people. There are two proverbs that give us different advice. The first one is “Nothing ventured, nothing gained.” This proverb says that we cannot get anything if we don’t take a risk if we don’t take a risk. The second one is “Better safe than sorry.” This one says that a person should be careful and act safely to avoid regarding latter.

Which proverb is more persuasive for you? Write your opinion and reason. After that, write about your experience to support your reason.

When you write your answer, you can express the first proverb as proverb A, and second proverb as proverb B.
